Voluntary communical one, containing inter-

on the case when the party From the Jackson, Miss., Clarion, 7 Washington Crry, September 17th, 1866,—His Eccellency B. G. Humphreys, Governor of Mississippi: Dear Str.-The public prints inform methat our Legislature s to be convened in extra session on the 15th of October. The proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States as a 14th article, may possibly be submitted to the Legislature for its adoption or rejection, and as our State has had no opportunity of seing heard through her representatives on this interesting subject, and as the people of the State have a right to know the opinions of their representatives on a question so vitally important. I adopt this method, the only one left me, of giving very briefly the outline of the opinions which I entertain in regard to this proposed amendment. No doubt the good sense of the Legislature will doubt that the condition is useless—it is the same old story of want, wretchedness and death which has been exemplified in all crowded communities.

How they live is a mystery—that they suffer and will die in their present distressed for the condition of their condition is useless—it is the same old story of want, wretchedness and death which has been exemplified in all crowded communities. guide that budy to a correct conclusion, but the interest I feel for the welfare and dig-nity of the State, demand that I should not remain silent when both are so deeply in-

In the first place, I do not believe the of the Congress of the United States. The of 'two Senutors from each State.' It is very clear that a body not so composed, or in other words where a considerable numher of the States are excluded from representation in both branches, is not the Cougress of the United States. As well might any body of neurpers assemble and claim to be the Congress of the United States. Each State has a right to know that all claiming to be members possess the constitutional resisites. Mississippi does not and canno know that the members who recommended this amendment, were constitutional members of Congress. Nearly one-third of the States were excluded from representation in both Houses by a majority of members who assumed to be the Congress. If a majority may thus exclude States from representation, it is easy to perceive that it may go on in the work of declaring States disloyal, and all others excluded. For instance, New York and Pennsylvania may so manage as o control a majority, and begin by excluding first one small State and thea another and so on, antil all the legislative power of the nation is usurped and controlled by those two States, and ultimately even by the

When the Southern States adopted the had elected members who appeared at the at we have recognized this as a onstitutional Congress. But again: The President is a component part of the Legislative Department, and the onstitution declares that "Every order, reslution or vote to which the concurrence of senate and House of Representatives may be necessary, (except on a question of adurnment,) shall be presented to the President," etc. Nothing can take effect, or be complete until so presented. And the case is not altered because a two-thirds vote is required on amendments proposed; such resolution is not a complete legislative act mail o presented. In no other way, except brough the President, can such resolution be communicated to the States. As the proposed amendment was not submitted to the President, it does not amount to a recommendation. It is a nullity.

But let us look for a moment at the provisions of the proposed amendment.

The first section declares that "All person orn or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside." It then proceeds to prohibit the States from making or enforcing any law "which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens." lees not say what are privileges or immuni ties; that is left for the next Cr gress to provide in virtue of the last section, which declares "that Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article." We may find Congress conferring "privileges or immunities" m one class, to the exclusion of another class; or we may find Congress assuming absolute control over all the people of a State and their demestic concerns, and this this much, at least, will be found to work equal benefit to them and to the white popvirtually abolishes the State. Perhaps any ulation of the South. tate that has so little self-respect as to adopt he amendment, deserves no better fate. The second section, if my construction of it be right, would probably exclude one State from representation in Congress, as I uppose the number of male negroes over twenty-one to be nearly equal to the number of white males. It is therefore a mere effort to force negro suffrage upon us, whether we are willing or not. Either do this or you shall have no representation. It is presumed that our intelligent people would not healtate long in making their choice. The third section provides that no perso shall hold any office who may have heretofore have taken an oath to support the Con-stitution of the United States, and who afterwards engaged in the rebellion, or who gave aid and comfort to those who did engage in it. This is a sweeping act of dis-franchisement, which would embrace, perhaps, a majority of our citizens; for there just added to the list, which may be further are probably few who have not, in some way

Even those who opposed secession, and engaged in the war only under compulsion, would be embraced by this provision, as well as the man who had given to a hungry soldier a meal's victuals or a piece of bread; relative in the army. I will only add that should this amendment stories designed to prove the barbarism of become part of the Constitution, we shall | their neighbors. have a very different Government from that which we inherited from our ancestors.

Very respectfully, Your obedient ervant, W. L. SHARKEY, Rapicalism Exemptifica.-On the noon train from Cincinnati, yesterday, was pre-sented the disgusting sight of a newly mar-ried comple, the bride a pleasant and rather good-looking white woman, and the groom a black, thick-lipped, carly headed "loyal-ist" from the Southern States. MISERY IN OUR MIDST.

From the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser. Outside of the question of humanity, some things around Montgomery require prompt attention in order to prevent calamity coming pon the entire community. It may per haps not be known to some who rarely go beyond the range where business or inclina tion calls them, that this city is belted in with punpers. Around the Montgomery and West Point depot, and running down to the river's edge, in an entirely malarious district, are many cabins, filled with suffering people. In the vicinity of the old Ala-bama and Florida railroad are more of the same class. As an example of many to be met with we mention one near the West Point depot, where, in a room 16x24 feet, yesterday were huddled together in rags, sickness and misery, ten human beings-women and children. None of these were well, and six were down with chills, ulcerated sore throats and erysipelas. An elaboration of their condition is useless—it is the same old story of want, wretchedness and condition does not admit of doubt. These people cannot live on what is not enough for one, without that state of health which hunger and want is sure to produce. How they came to be in their present condition is not to be asked. There they are, and any amendment was recommended by two-thirds one who desires can see for themselves. they have been drawing rations from the constitutional House of Representatives consists of members chosen "by the people of the several States," and the Senate consists great many of them are in their present condition because of disinclination to bette themselves. Some mode of relief should be adopted on the ground of public safety because it affords the cholera a splendis place at which to hold high carnival and against his threatened approach every ave nue should be closed.

PREEDMEN. From the Augusta Constitutionalist.]

Early in the coming month a council of the Catholic Bishops in this country is to be held in Baltimore, to take into considera tion certain matters affecting the welfare of the Church. This council, assembled b order of the Pope, has especially commend-ed to it the subject of religious instruction among the late slaves of the Southern in the exclusion of minorities, until Con-gress shall be made to consist only of mem-great interest in the extension of the faith sers from a few of the larger States, with almong the freedmen, and in one of the all others excluded. For instance, New Catholic papers it was stated not long since that ways and means to accomplish this end would be one of the great ends, if not it deed the chief purpose of this ecclesiastice

Bishop Veror, whose diocese includes this State and Florida, has lately issued a pastoral letter to his clergy which inculcates upon them the importance of attending to amendment abolishing slavery, the state of the morals and religious training of the friedmen in very strong terms. While the freedmen in very strong terms. While the freedmen in very strong terms. While the institution of slavery remained the Bishop which recommended that according to which recommended that amendment. But was a steadinst opponent of abolition ideas, when this amendment was proposed, they had elected members who appeared at the administer a wholesome relake to those proper time and demanded to be admitted, whose continued agitation has done so much of were rejected. We are not, therefore, to harm to both black and white. Slavery however, he says forbade the instruction the blacks except to a very limited degree and in the wiping away by emancipation of this restrictive legislation a great opportuni-ty he thinks is presented for extending the influence of the Catholic Church that ought not to be neglected.

This seems also, in brief, the sentiment of the whole Catholic hierarcy upon the sub-ject and an increased zeal for the propogation of its belief may be regarded as one o the effects of the changes wrought by the late war. Knowing the immense power wielded by the Catholic church in any given direction, and seeing how a controlling in fluence over the minds of the freeds could be of very great future benefit to the South, it is not surprising that the Northern press should, to a considerable extent, be hostile to this attempt. The New York Herold, in particular, looks upon the move with great suspicion, and not long since de voted an elaborate article to its discussion taking of course, an unfavorable view. In the whirl of greater events it is no likely, however, that there will be much opposition to the efforts of the Church, and ose who know the indomitable energy of its clergy, may reasonably anticipate great results from its present design ere many more years have gone over. How far the present membership of the freedmen with ome of the Protestant denominations, will be an obstacle to the efforts of the Catholic priests, it is not easy to say, but as effort on the one side will beget effort on the other, the result, so far as the freedmen are con cerned, will be to secure them a much greater share of attention from the ecclesiastics of all the more prominent denominations, and

A GERMAN journal gives a list of dethroned Princes who now live in different parts of Europe. First, there is Don Miguer, dethroned in 1830, who resides in Germany having married a German princess; next, the Count DE CHAMBORD, in exile since 1830, residing generally in Austria. With him may be joined the ORLEANIST Princes, who reade mostly in England Leorond and Ferdinand, of Tuscany, Francis V., of Modens, and Robert, of Parma, were drive from their States in 1859. It is a generally admitted fact that the plan now adopted in Tobacco sales of selling at Accross, reserving the privilege of rejecting the best hid if not satisfactory to the Planter, has given more satisfaction, and uniformly caused Produce to and believing that this will prove equally as satis-factory in Cotton as Tobacco, Messes, Smith, Parkes & Stark, of Nashville, Tennessee, have concluded to adopt this plan.

ITS ADVANTAGES ARE NUMEROUS.

THE SELF-ADJUSTING TRUSS

THIS TRUSS IS ENTIRELY DIFFERENT now in use, and has EVERY DESIRABLE AD VANTAGE, viz: 1. It is light, clean and easy; no pressure on the back; with motion inward and upward.

2d. It has no springs or pads; the Button is smooth and durable, and will not absorb perspiration; the pressure is equal on all parts of the Hernial aperture, without infringing on the Spermatic Cord. (a quality possessed by no other Truss, as the frequency of Varieocele in those whave worn the various kinds can testify,) thus the aperture being relieved of pressure become firmly closed by adhesive inflamation, thereby performing a cure.
